FOUNDERS

Anil
Kumar
Nahata

My journey began with industrial pump sets, working closely with farmers across districts and understanding rural India's real needs.

As we expanded into industrial solutions, I felt the need to reconnect with the farming community. That vision led to CLN Corp — a one-stop solution providing genuine machines, fair pricing, and reliable service

Kushal
Nahata

I'm Kushal Nahata, Co-Founder of CLN Corp — a company built with a clear purpose: to deliver end-to-end agricultural equipment solutions that truly empower farmers.

CLN Corp was founded with the aim of bridging the gap between modern technology and on-ground agricultural needs by creating a dependable, one-stop solution for farmers and dealers alike.

SERVICE-DRIVEN EXCELLENCE & DEALER EMPOWERMENT

We operate with clearly defined and specialized teams across Sales, Service, and Administration, ensuring seamless coordination and superior customer experience at every touchpoint. While our sales team focuses on expanding our reach and strengthening dealer relationships, our service division remains the backbone of our organization.

We strongly capitalize on service excellence and position ourselves as a service-driven company. We believe that long-term growth is built not merely on selling products, but on supporting them throughout their lifecycle. Our structured service network ensures timely assistance, technical guidance, and reliable after-sales support to both dealers and farmers.

Our core philosophy is to promote and empower our dealers by standing firmly behind them with consistent service support, training, and genuine spare parts availability. We aim to create a strong service culture in the market — encouraging farmers to adopt the habit of using genuine spare parts and servicing their implements at regular intervals. This not only enhances operational efficiency but also significantly increases the longevity and performance of their investments.
